- 13:03
- (a) A minimum payment per scheduled day shift is three and one-half (3 ½) hours. Split shifts are considered separate shifts for the terms of this Article.
 - (a) A minimum assignment per client family is one and one half (1 ½) hours. Travel between client families is work time.
 - (b) Time spent at meetings required by the Employer, or time scheduled by the Employer to attend Head Office is considered work time.
- 13:04
- (a) All rest periods are to be included in the employee's scheduled hours of work.
 - (b) Notwithstanding Article 13:04(a), an employee may choose to have an unpaid one-half (½) hour rest period, outside their scheduled hours of work and as close to the midpoint of their scheduled work assignments as possible. Employees who opt for this unpaid rest break must request it in writing to the Manager of Human Resources, and such arrangement shall be for a minimum period of six (6) months.

- 13:07 (a) An employee will be paid their regular rate of pay for a scheduled shift (to a maximum of eight [8] hours), if the shift has been cancelled with less than twenty-four (24) hours' notice and there is no work available. When a client advises the employee that they are cancelled, to qualify for pay, the employee must, as soon as possible, notify the Employer, as outlined in the departmental notification guideline, and must be available for work for the period of time previously scheduled to work. Employees who refuse placements may forfeit their cancellation pay.
- (b) If an employee's shift has been cancelled with greater than twenty-four (24) hours' notice, there is no pay.
- (c) If an employee is cancelled at the client's door and there was no warning, the employee must immediately contact the employer as outlined in the departmental notification guideline.

The employee may be redirected to an alternate client home within a reasonable distance and consideration of travel time, and/or assigned alternate work including self-directed professional development for up to the balance of the shift, or be requested to attend the office. If the employee does not immediately report the cancellation or declines the assigned work they forfeit the cancellation pay. If the call goes to voicemail, the employee must leave a message that they were canceled at the door. If the employer does not call back within ten (10) minutes, the employee will be paid a minimum of three and one-half (3 ½) hours, or scheduled shift up to a maximum of four (4) hours, whichever is greater and not required to be available for work. If the employee is not redirected, the employee will be paid as above.

Employees may choose to accept additional client placements assigned later in the day.

- (d) When an employee is dismissed early by their clients, they must, as soon as possible on that day, notify the Employer, as outlined in the departmental notification guideline, and must remain available to accept work for the remainder of their scheduled time. Employees who do not properly advise the Agency of having been dismissed or who refuse placements may forfeit their pay for the dismissed portion of the day.
 - (e) If the employee fails to report the changes to their schedule, there may be no payment.
- 13:08
- (a) The parties recognize the unique nature of the work performed by employees and the need for the work to be assigned according to the individual needs of the client.
 - (b) In assigning the work, the Employer shall take into consideration the employee's availability, restrictions and geographical location, but it is recognized by the parties that service and client needs are paramount. Where two (2) or more employees are available and qualified for the job, then length of service shall be the determining factor provided that it does not result in overtime or excessive travel.
 - (c) An employee who is concerned about the allocation of work should first contact the department Manager. If the matter is not resolved with the department Manager, the employee may take the matter to the Manager of Human Resources.
 - (d) An employee who is concerned about the allocation of work may grieve to the Executive Director. The decision at Step 2 shall be final for such grievances and not subject to arbitration.

classification subject to documented consideration of qualifications, reliability, and prior work performance.

- 16:03 The Agency shall give the employee written notice of the date upon which they are to be laid off at least two (2) weeks before the date on which they are to be laid off, and to the extent that such minimum notice is not given the employee shall receive pay in lieu thereof.

Re: Rest Periods / Meal Breaks

- (a) Staff will be paid for rest periods/meal breaks that occur during their regular shift in recognition that they are often unable to leave children unattended and/or many client homes do not have a parent present. For staff working in resource centres, it is recognized that even though the centres may be closed during the meal break, staff are often working during this time.
- (b) Therefore, staff are required to remain in the client home or resource centre during the meal break and they will receive payment for this time. Employees are to take their meal break at a suitable time during their work day, as negotiated with their client or as is appropriate to resource centre programming.
- (c) We will also continue our practise of paid time for traveling between homes as employees may be taking their meal period during this time as per Article 13, Hours of Work.
